

Wollaston School is a large, over-subscribed, rural community school located in a village setting about 15 minutes' drive from Northampton. Our student intake draws on a number of nearby villages and we have over 1400 students on roll, with approximately 280 students in the Sixth Form.

Results have been excellent across the school over several years. Our whole school GCSE results have shown a 17% improvement against national GCSE outcomes between 2014 and 2016 and Progress 8 measures have been positive for the last two years. A-level results are equally strong and about ninety of our students progress on to study at higher education level each year, ranging from local universities to Oxbridge and institutions of higher education overseas. The school was deemed to be 'Good' during its last Ofsted visit last month (April 2017).

Resources across the school are excellent, with several recently refurbished teaching block and extended and refurbished library and dining area. The school has recently begun to work with local primary partner schools to investigate the possibility of forming a Multi-Academy Trust.
