

East of England School Physicist of the Year Award 2018

Prize Winner:

Emily Drage
Wollaston School

Hosted by: The University of Cambridge – awards event at Churchill College, Cambridge

Date: 11th July 2018

Nominated by teacher: Mr C Sheldrick

Emily is a remarkable young woman. In spite of considerable upset in her personal circumstances she has remained conscientious, enthusiastic and proactive. Her academic achievements are excellent and a testament to her desire to perform to the highest standard. Her contributions in lessons are entirely positive and outside of lessons she gives her time willingly in the running of the school science club. She is a lovely individual who richly deserves this award and the recognition that goes with it.
